[FROM THE GERMAN OF HEINE.]

The Spring's blue eyes are open-Up from the grass they look; I mean the lovely violets, Which for a wreath I took.

I plucked the flowers while thinking; and my thoughts in one sad tal To the breezes were repeated By the listening me stingale.

Yes, every thought s... warbled, As from my soul it rose: And now my tender secret The whole green forest knows.

The transactions in the staple in this market during the week just terminated will be seen by the ollowing statement, which we submit:

New Orleans Market.

New Orleans Market.

NEW ORLEANS, January 11.—Cotton—The sales to-day amounted to 4000 bales at a further advance of ½c in all desirable descriptions. We now quote Ordinary at 12½a12½c, Good Ordinary at 13½a15½c, and Strict Möddling at 15½a16c.

Some authorities quote Middling at 15½a16c, and Good Ordinary at 13½a14½c, predicating their figures on actual sales. There was, in fact, considerable irregularity in the prices paid, owing to the scarcity of certain descriptions and the necessities of buyers; but, nevertheless, we regard our own quotations as representing the general market more correctly. The supply on sale was quite inadequate to the demand, which, with the advance at Liverpool and New York, and the course of foreign exchange, fully accounts for the improvement noted above. The business would undouttedly, have been much better had more scope been afforded to purchasers.

STATEMENT OF COTTON. portion of the crop has reached market. There has been a good demand during much of the week, particularly for some of the lower grades, and prices
